First Atomic Test Planned On Thursday

Scientists Making Final Arrangements For Nuclear Blast

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (U.S.)—Nuclear experts grappled today with final details of Thursday's blast opening the United States' sixth series of atomic tests on this southern Nevada proving ground.

They are keeping a close check on the brisk winds snapping across the desert as the time for the pre-dawn detonation of a comparatively small atomic device nears.

Too high winds would cause postponement. Final decision on whether conditions are satisfactory will be made at 11 p. m. tomorrow.

The Atomic Energy Commission scientists are being extremely careful because they say they intend to make this series of tests the safest of all in the matter of radioactive fallout.

The first detonation will be from a 700-foot tower. This is 200 feet higher than towers used in the past. Some subsequent explosions will be from balloon-supported platforms at elevations up to 2,000 feet.

These detonations at higher levels are intended to materially reduce the amount of radioactive dust sucked into the air by keeping the fire ball off the desert floor.

The AEC has announced that the purposes of this series are: "The further development of (Continued on Page 2; Col. 5)

Senate Holds To House Cut

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Two Senate subcommittees have a chance today to continue the hold-the-line position on House cuts which marked Senate action on its first regular money bill this session.

The Senate late yesterday passed a $3,884,227,000 Treasury Post Office Department bill, and agreed with its Appropriations Committee in refusing to vote a penny more than the House.

Today two Appropriations subcommittees meet to act on the 665-million-dollar State—Justice Department bill, cut 101 millions. The Department bill, the 871-million-dollar Commerce Department bill, slashed 217 millions below President Eisenhower's requests.

Liberace, Film Star Slated To Talk In Magazine Probe

LOS ANGELES (U.S.)—Two show business personalities, pianist Liberace and actress Maureen O'Hara, reportedly will be the first witnesses today when the Los Angeles County grand jury begins a criminal libel investigation of Confidential Magazine.

Neither was on the subpoena list but newspaper stories said they would appear voluntarily. Liberace was the subject of a lurid article featured in canary-yellow pages in the July issue of Confidential circulated here. His attorney John R. Jacobs Jr. told a reporter that after the pianist's grand jury appearance dropped.

Miss O'Hara was the subject of an article in the magazine some time ago. Approximately 20 witnesses have been subpoenaed but prosecutors indicated none are Hollywood stars.

Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown disclosed that he had received and turned down a proposal under which Confidential would clean up its California edition on the condition that the libel case be dropped.

'Uncontrollable Urge' Boy Admits Killing Child, Burying Body

CHICAGO (U.S.)—A 3-year-old girl was strangled and buried under the front porch of her home yesterday and police said a 14-year-old neighbor admitted the crime shortly after the child's body was found early today.

Capt. Robert Ryan, deputy chief of the uniformed police, said the youth, Lawrence Larry Madsen, admitted he strangled Lise Jorgensen in his basement apartment, took off her clothes and hid the nude body.

Police began searching for the little girl when she was reported missing about 4 p. m. yesterday. They found the body shortly after midnight.

Ryan quoted Madsen as saying he had lured the girl into his bedroom to play records for her. They lived in the same apartment building on the Northwest Side.

"She started crying," Ryan quoted the boy. "Something uncontrollable came over me. I don't know why I did it but I took off my tie, tied it around her neck and strangled her. She turned blue."

Madsen further related, Ryan said, he disrobed the girl but did not molest her sexually, and then carried her through a window from the basement into an enclosure under the front porch. He buried her in about six inches of soft dirt, and threw a rug over the dirt. He then returned to his room and finished his school homework.

More than 100 policemen joined in the search for Lise after her mother Mrs. Inger Jorgensen, 27, reported her missing. A detective came upon the freshly turned dirt near the front porch enclosure, leading to discovery of the body.

Police said young Madsen, a seventh grade pupil, was questioned about the missing girl as (Continued on Page 2; Col. 3)

Suspect In Rape Shot By Officer

HOUSTON, Tex. (U.S.)—A 35-year-old man was shot to death yesterday while police were taking him to headquarters for questioning in the rape of a 15-year-old white girl.

Solons Seek Evidence Of Beck Favors

Trailer Company's Counsel Will Face Quiz On Treatment

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (U.S.)—The Teamsters Union's public relations advisers were reported today to have recommended ouster of the union President Dave Beck. The recommendations were before a union committee in session today.

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Senate rackety investigators said they hoped to learn in hearings today whether Teamsters boss Dave Beck gave favored union treatment to trucking firms which helped get him a $200,000 personal loan.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said he expected to ask Alphons Landa, Washington counsel for the Fruehauf Trailer Co., about a series of office memos written by Arthur Condon, another lawyer in the same firm.

Copies of Condon's memos, with Landa marked in, were given reporters yesterday after Roy Fruehauf, president of the trailer manufacturing firm, said he didn't know anything about them.

Other Firms Critical
The memos related that other trucking firms involved in a 1955 New England area Teamsters strike were critical of Fruehauf, Beck and Bert Seymour, president of Associated Transport, Inc., a big New York trucking firm.

Condon is general counsel of the Independent Advisory Committee of the Trucking Industry, a trade group to promote trucking interests. Beck heads the committee and Fruehauf and Seymour are members.

Condon was Beck's lawyer at Beck's earlier appearances before the Rackets Committee but since has severed connections with him. So has former Sen. James Duff (R-Pa.), also a member of the law firm with which Condon and Landa are associated.

Condon's memo dated Aug. 11, 1955, said a letter circulated among New England truckers criticized Beck, Fruehauf and Seymour "on the grounds that the strike settlement was the result of a deal engineered by these men."

Another Condon memo spoke of union pickets being withdrawn from operations of Associated and other big trucking firms south of the New England area during the strike. The memo said this would save Associated alone a strike loss of $200,000 a week.

Fruehauf said strikes hurt his business because trucking firms would not buy equipment and held up paying for trailers already purchased.

Polish Primate Greeted By Pope After Six Years

VATICAN CITY (U.S.)—Pope Pius XII today embraced Poland's Roman Catholic primate, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, after a separation prolonged by the Church-Communist conflict in Poland and Red confinement of the primate.

It was the first meeting between the 81-year-old pontiff and the Primate since 1951, when Poland's Communist regime decreed stern measures against the Church.

The Polish primate had refused to come to Rome to receive his cardinal's red hat and ring when the Pope elevated him in 1953 because he feared the Communists would not let him return.

Winds Pound Dixie Areas, Two Men Die

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.S.)—Twenty-three persons were injured yesterday when angry clouds over Arkansas spawned three tornadoes and numerous destructive thunderstorms. Hardest hit was Conway, where 21 persons, including 9 school children, were hurt.

Strong winds also were blamed for a boating mishap on the swollen Red River in southwest Arkansas. Two men were lost in the swift current. A third man was rescued after he had been swept, clinging to the capsized boat, about a mile downstream.

Twisters dipped into Conway, Malvern and the Izard County community of Oxford.

Property damage was widespread. The Conway tornado ripped into a corner of the Ida Burns Elementary School, toppling a wall into a classroom. Only one of the eight pupils hurt was seriously injured — Gregg Canten, 12.

School Supt. Hays Gibson credited the teacher of the 34-pupil room, Mrs. W. E. Bolding, with preventing further injury by ordering the children to get under their desks.

In addition to the school, several houses were smashed, a service station unroofed and trees and power lines knocked down.

Polish Reds Plan Session

WARSAW (U.S.)—The Polish Communist party's long-awaited ninth assembly — the police-making meeting of its key Central Committee — has finally been announced for tomorrow.

The meeting first was slated for February. Reliable sources said it was delayed to await the results of the inquiry into responsibility for secret police tortures during the Stalin years.

The results of this inquiry reportedly have given party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka a powerful weapon against the committee's restive "conservative" faction.

Freak Mishap Kills Woman

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.S.)—A severe thunderstorm rolled across Memphis yesterday, killing a woman who had sought shelter from the rain under the canopy of a department store.

Mrs. Gladys Marie Benson, 38, was killed when the wind ripped a 200-pound concrete coping from the department store and sent it crashing into the canopy.

Kidnaped Tot Found Slain, Not Attacked

BRISTOL, Conn. (U.S.)—A pretty, blonde 9-year-old girl was abducted on her way to school and slain yesterday.

The body of Brenda Jane Doucette, a third grader, was found in the woods just outside Bristol last night with a man's sleeveless sweater wrapped tightly around her neck.

An autopsy showed she had not been raped nor was there any evidence of an attempted sexual attack, said Deputy Coroner Frank Henley.

Brenda's body was found fully clothed at 7:30 p. m. in a clump of bushes nearly four hours after she had been reported missing by her father Baxley Doucette.

Dr. Irving S. Platt, medical examiner, said the child apparently was slain shortly after leaving for school.

Miller Trial On Contempt Charge Opens

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Playwright Arthur Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, went on trial today on contempt of Congress charges.

Miller's attorneys waived a jury trial and the case will be decided by U.S. Dist. Judge Charles F. McLaughlin.

The judge said the issues have been clarified by his rulings on pretrial motions.

This, he said, left only one issue — whether the questions Miller refused to answer before the House Committee on Un-American Activities last June 21 were pertinent to an inquiry the committee was conducting.

Before the trial started, one newsman made a count and found 21 reporters and 21 spectators on hand. Soon, however, the number of spectators increased.

Miss Monroe remained in New York.

The indictment stemmed from Miller's refusal to give the names of Communist writers with whom he attended meetings in New York in 1947.

Miller, 41, hailed before the committee last June 21, answered all questions about himself, but refused on "grounds of conscience" to talk about others.

Leaders Say Eisenhower Is Too Late

Makes Plea Tonight For His Program, GOP Gets Preview

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—President Eisenhower was quoted today as saying he "would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country" if Congress slashes his spending proposals for aircraft and guided missiles.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told reporters about Eisenhower's stand after the weekly meeting between the President and GOP congressional chiefs.

Martin referred to reports that the Democratic-controlled House Appropriations Committee is considering severe cuts in the administration's request for defense funds.

"The President said he would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country if cuts were made of any substantial nature in missiles and aircraft," Martin said.

Speaks Tonight At 9

Eisenhower gave the Republican leaders what amounted to a preview of the radio-TV appeal he will make to the nation at 9 p. m. EDT in defense of his $71,800,000,000 budget. The spending plans are threatened with sharp cuts by the lawmakers.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California told newsmen he is in full agreement with the President on the need for "maintaining muscle" in national defense so long as the Communist world remains a threat.

In advance of the White House session two Senate leaders said Eisenhower's appeal to the nation tonight may come too late to stem the economy tide in Congress.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he thinks Eisenhower's TV-radio address will have "some influence" in whipping up support for his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

"But I don't think the President's appeal will be sufficient to turn the tide," Bridges said. "The pressure for economy in government is increasing and it is my judgment Congress is going to cut this budget substantially."

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said he thinks Eisenhower has "waited too long" in his appeal for budget support.

"He is up against an avalanche," Mansfield said. "He might have turned it three months ago but there have been too many conflicting statements from administration officials about spending and economy in the meantime."

Eisenhower's talk will be carried live at 8 p. m., EST, by the four radio networks and by NBC-TV. Delayed telecasts have been scheduled by ABC-TV at 9 p. m. and by CBS-TV at 10:15 p. m. (Continued on Page 2; Col. 4)

Texas Face Flood Threat

DALLAS, Tex. (U.S.)—Storm-battered Texas faced more flood threats today in the wake of a weekend of devastating floods and turbulent weather.

But skies were clearing over most of the state and the turbulence appeared over temporarily. Cleanup operations were under way in the central Texas town of Lampasas, where a flash flood Sunday night almost destroyed the business district and left 750 persons homeless.

Four persons drowned and a fifth was missing today in the closed garage of his Baltimore County home.

NEW YORK (U.S.)—President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam received an award last night citing his "inspired leadership of the free world."

President Eisenhower, in a congratulatory telegram, said: "As to hold it at less expense to you than you could have done it yourselves."

Long Kohler Strike Gets Solon Study

Rackets Probers Say Public Hearings In Walkout Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee said today it has launched a preliminary investigation of the sometimes violent, never-settled strike against the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a member, said staff investigators have been assigned to the probe, which may lead to public hearings later.

The National Labor Relations Board has devoted practically a full year to hearings on complex issues in the strike. An NLRB examiner at one point dismissed the whole case. The board reinstated it.

The dispute has stirred clouds of charges and countercharges between the company and Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers, which have spent millions of dollars in the long fight. The Kohler Co. has continued producing plumbing equipment through the dispute.

From the union camp have come allegations of unfair labor practices against the company. From the company's camp there have been allegations against the union of improper use of a boycott on its products, and of actual violence.

"When we get the (Kohler) report of the staff, we will take it up in the committee and try to work out some program of action by the committee that will be appropriate under the circumstances," McClellan said.

Graham To Have 'Dedication' At New York Arena

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will dedicate Madison Square Garden as a place of God in a private ceremony to-night.

Tomorrow night in the Garden the globe-trotting evangelist will open his six-week New York crusade to win the city's "un-churching" to Christ.

Graham, 38-year-old Baptist preacher from North Carolina, plans to speak at each night's meeting in the 18,000-seat arena. The Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church and an ardent Graham supporter, predicted that an overflow crowd will turn out for the opening address.

A loud-speaker has been set up outside the Garden to take care of any overflow.

Seventy-one extra policemen will be stationed in the Garden area each night throughout the crusade.

French Taxes To Be Hiked

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet's Cabinet decided today to increase telephone and postal rates to help pay for the war against Arab nationalism in Algeria.

Under a series of newly charted tax measures, the basic stamp for domestic mail will rise from 15 to 20 francs—roughly from 4½ to 7 cents. A similar hike is planned for calls over the government-run telephone system, now based at 15 francs each.

The government also called for an increase of 15 francs a gallon in the gasoline tax, already one of the highest in the world. The price of gasoline in Paris today is about 85 cents a gallon.

Alan H. Lazar, who helped construct the Nautilus, America's first atom-driven submarine, said weight of the atomic engine and proper shielding to protect the crew were the main problems.

The upshot, with the Associated Transport Co., figuring in the deal, was that Beck got a $200,000 personal loan about a year after Beck let Fruehauf have a $1½-million-dollar loan of Teamsters funds.

The Rackets Committee also heard from Fruehauf that he shelled out $1,600 to $1,800 to provide Beck's niece and a party of teen-age girl friends with a car and a chauffeur to haul them around Europe last summer.

Other testimony showed that four relatives and friends of Beck, including his son and a cousin, Norman Gessert, shared a $180,000 profit from selling toy trucks and other merchandise to the Teamsters Union through the Union Merchandising Co.

International Agency On Controlling Peaceful Uses Of Atom Gains Backing

WASHINGTON (AP)—This ABC on the world organization for developing peaceful uses of the atom—called the International Atomic Energy Agency—which President Eisenhower first proposed Dec. 8, 1953.

After three years of negotiations among the big and little nations—to make this kind of agency as foolproof as possible—80 nations, including the United States, have signed an agreement for creating it.

The explanation which follows is taken from the rules laid down in that agreement and the state-ments made by Secretary of State Dulles and his State Department in defense of American membership in the IAEA.

80 Nations Have Signed

Although 80 nations have signed the IAEA agreement, it can't come into existence until formal approval is given by 18 nations, including at least three of the Big Five: United States, Russia, Britain, France, Canada.

Seven nations, including Russia, have now given formal approval. Russia is the only one of the Big Five to do so. Eisenhower has asked the Senate to approve, as it would approve any treaty, by the hard-to-get two-thirds vote.

If the Senate refuses—because of the opposition of right-wing Republicans and conservative Democrats—the whole plan may either collapse or be taken over by Russia and those willing to go along with her.

This is how it would be set up:
1. There would be a supervisory body called the general conference in which each member would have one vote. It would meet once a year. There would be no veto. Decisions would be made by a two-thirds or majority vote, depending on the issue.

2. The real boss would be the Board of Governors. Twenty-three nations would be represented on this board. That, of course, would include the United States. No one would have a veto. The voting would be the same as in the general conference.

3. The work would be done by a staff—of perhaps 450 people—headed by a director general. He would be responsible to the Board of Governors and independent of control by any national government.

The director would pick his staff on the basis of scientific and technical qualifications from the member countries. The annual cost of running the agency would be between six and seven million dollars, of which the United States would put up about two million.

The agency would not be part of the United Nations. This is the purpose of the agency: to encourage research on the peaceful uses of atomic energy, exchange information on its peaceful uses, and exchange and train scientists and experts.

It could also do its own research and build or operate research reactors and laboratories.

Here's an example of how it would work: The "have" nations—like the United States, Britain, Russia—could make available to the agency amounts of atomic material. Then a "have not" nation, which wanted to use that material, could ask the agency to justify its request.

Could Supply Equipment
For what purposes could such material be used? In producing electric power, in medical or scientific research in agriculture, or even in industry. The agency could also supply equipment.

How could the board be sure there wasn't cheating, that the asking nation, after getting the atomic material, might not use it for weapons? The board, through its staff, would have the right to send inspectors into any asking country.

Is this a giveaway program?

Pilot Of Jet Hears Stork. Also Landed

JAMESTOWN, Va. (AP)—One of the three air force jet pilots who participated in the non-stop London-to-Jamestown flight found out he was a father when his plane roared over the Jamestown Festival Park yesterday.

he was reportedly the last person who saw her alive.

Madsen lives with his grandmother Mrs. Maren Madsen, 65, who adopted him when he was a year old, after the death of his mother. Police said they did not learn the whereabouts of his father, Leo J. Kelly.

Lise lived in the third-floor attic apartment with her mother and father Arnold, 33, an electronics engineer, and a 6-month-old brother, Lars. The Jorgensens came to this country about 15 months ago from Norway.

Dulles says no. No nation has to supply atomic materials to the agency. But when it does so, the nation using those materials is expected to pay for them, at least to some degree.

The United States has agreed to make available to the agency, when it starts business, 5,000 kilograms of U-235 and to match the contributions made by other nations between that time and July 1, 1960. So far Russia has promised only 50 kilograms and Britain 20. Russia, which has its own atomic supplies, is not expected to ask the IAEA for any atomic materials.

Retired Navy Officer Kills Doctor, Accuses Him Of Sex Attack On Wife

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A retired Navy officer told police yesterday he shot and killed a past president of the California Tuberculosis and Health Assn., because his wife committed suicide after the physician had raped her.

A car driver trailed Saul Sidney Klass after the shooting, using radio to direct police, who quickly closed in and made the arrest.

Shot down and killed by six bullets was Dr. Harold G. Trimble, 61, an internationally known chest specialist.

Court Fight Continues In Belair Sale

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A dispute over the Belair estate of William Woodward Jr. has landed in Maryland's Court of Appeals.

Sale of the 2,280-acre former stud farm to William Zeckendorf's Webb and Knapp Inc. for $1,187,000 was nullified April 29 by Judge Charles C. Marbury in Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

An appeal has been filed by M. William Adelson of Baltimore, attorney for Webb and Knapp, and New York developer Norman Adolph. Arguments are not expected to be heard until next fall because of the court's summer recess.

The estate, once the home of such famous race horses as Nashua and Gallant Fox, is located in Prince Georges County about 15 miles east of Washington.

Adolph had contended he offered $1,400,000 for Belair and William J. Levitt, another New York developer, said he tried to negotiate last September and was willing to offer 1½ million dollars.

Judge Marbury, noting the declaration of new bids within 30 days, The Hanover Bank of New York said it did not negotiating after agreeing to Zeckendorf's terms because it felt this would be unethical "shopping."

Leaders Say

Eisenhower generally is expected to follow in his talk the line he has pursued in recent news conferences—that his proposed spending level can be cut only at the expense of programs Congress has already ordered into effect or at the risk of undermining efforts to get world peace.

"Must Keep Nation Safe"
The President has said nobody is more dedicated to economy than he but that the budget must be big enough to keep the nation safe in a troubled world.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower's address will be "an attempt to straighten out" what Hagerty called "a lot of misinformation kicking around."

Eisenhower has agreed to a $1,300,000,000 reduction in his $73,300,000,000 requests for money to be spent in this and future years. But he has offered only a 500-million-dollar cut in proposed actual spending for the year beginning July 1. Spending in that year will be financed by funds made available by previous Congresses, as well as the present session.

City Ravaged By Flood Has 'Resurrection'

Four Drown When Raging Creek Hit Texas Community

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—For a town that died Sunday night under a 10-foot wall of water, Lampasas today was showing definite signs of resurrection.

Merchants and housewives were cleaning up, an employment office was set up and the town's population of nearly 5,000 was swollen by relief workers and engineers.

The relief workers were sorting out the problems and making plans to help people back on their feet. Engineers were helping straighten out the tangled town by doing such things as moving houses out of the streets.

There even was a hint of humor yesterday when the sun broke through clouds and melted them away.

"I'm going to have a special on mud packs," quipped Annette Spivey as she shoveled ooze out of her tiny beauty parlor.

Maj. Clyde Villmeier, commander of the 46th Engineers Construction Battalion at nearby Ft. Hood, said, "With good weather, it still will be three weeks before we can clear the debris, open streets and put the city back into working shape."

The disaster struck about 8:45 p.m. Sunday. A levee on Sulphur Creek broke.

The wall of water swept through the town, virtually destroyed much of the business section of 26 establishments and damaged 310 homes, 33 of which were demolished. Some homes were floated blocks away.

It absolutely cleared some business houses—walls, ceilings and merchandise.

In others, the weight of water crumpled floors, dropped merchandise into water-filled basements and thereby created water-logged junk.

Four persons drowned or were killed when the flood struck. The Red Cross listed 25 as missing at one time, but most turned up later.

One was missing and presumed dead.

Dulles Urges Arctic Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, rejecting any idea of a neutralized zone dividing Germany, said today it might be easier to set up a disarmament test with Russia in the Arctic rather than in Europe.

Dulles told a news conference many problems and pitfalls are involved in working out a pilot agreement for an arms control system as applied to some European areas.

He said that State Department thinking now is primarily concerned with Arctic territory and other sparsely settled regions.

Furthermore, Dulles argued that such an area, if agreed on, could be very useful in relaxing tensions because inspection, including aerial photography, would cover regions from which atomic attacks might be launched by either of the great powers against the other.

Widow Of Racer Arrives In Italy

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Marquis Alfonso de Portago's American widow arrived in Italy today to attend his funeral.

Two other women in his life of the Spanish playboy race driver—his mother and actress Linda Christian—were already on hand.

The Marquessa de Portago, the former Miss Carol McDaniel of Greenville, S.C., left by car for the village of Vighizolo, where the funeral will be held, immediately on reaching Milan from Paris.

Her first work was as stand-in to Mable Normand, later she became an actress in her own right, working with such personalities as Tom Mix, D. W. Griffith and others. She made "Foolish Wives" with Von Stroheim in 1922 and had a supporting role in the original "Ten Commandments" in 1923.

Hyman, late in life, gave up the practice of medicine for the ministry.

Harold G. Billings said he watched the shooting from his parked taxi and followed as Klass got into a car and drove away.

Driving through busy streets and past stop lights at speeds up to 60 miles an hour with one hand on the cab's wheels and the other holding the mouthpiece of his radio, Billings chased Klass for 11 minutes before the radio cars he was directing closed in.

Hubert Murray, a police lieutenant, said Klass surrendered quietly, remarking: "This is it. I did it. I've been waiting a long time to do this. He's a rapist."

Police said the circumstances of Mrs. Klass' death would be investigated.

WAC Leader Voices Pride On 'Birthday'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Women's Army Corps marks its 15th anniversary today with celebrations at posts at home and abroad. Col. Mary L. Milligan of Edge-wood, Pa., fifth director of the WAC, sent official greetings to the 8,500 members of the corps now on active duty.

"We feel a justifiable pride," she said, "in the realization that the history of our corps has proved that American womanhood can serve effectively in our nation's Army."

Col. Milligan will review the WAC detachment in a parade at Ft. Myer, Va., and attend a reception there as part of the anniversary ceremonies.

It was on May 14, 1942, that Congress approved a bill creating the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

In July 1943, the organization was made part of the regular Army. At its peak strength in World War II, the WAC numbered 100,000.

Three Young Fliers Break Record In Nonstop Flight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For three historic colony. The other three young U. S. Air Force pilots, it was a breakfast of steak and eggs in jolly England and an afternoon round of drinks in balmy Los Angeles.

In between was an historic 14-hour, five-minute nonstop flight of 6,710 miles—longest ever made by single-engine jet planes. The hop was made at an average speed of more than 475 miles an hour.

After they brought their F100C Super Sabre jets down here yesterday, the fliers described the trip as a routine, long-range, cruise control flight. But Air Force brass regarded it as something more dramatic than that.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, wired the pilots: "Your flight... gave added emphasis to TAC's position as a global deterrent to limited war. As demonstrated by the mission today, TAC's atomic forces can reach any point when aggression occurs."

The three swept-wing Super Sabres were piloted by Capt. Jack Bryant, 23, Muskogee, Okla.; Capt. Alan Engle, 28, Oden, Mich.; and Lt. Theodore Workman, 25, Oxford, Mich. They were part of a flight of six planes sent over the Atlantic to Jamestown, Va., to help celebrate the 250th anniversary of the founding of that

Career Corner

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK—(INS)—The new drugs and medications that keep popping up with miraculous regularity these days mean the man behind the drug counter is more important than ever.

This is a field that requires knowledge—about five years of education and "internship" in most states, according to Daniel J. Deodati of the Pharmaceutical Association of New York. Four years of college are necessary, plus an added six months to a year of apprenticeship after graduation. In New York, the apprentice who must work at a drug store approved by the State Pharmaceutical Board earns about $1.25 an hour.

After graduation a New York drug counter man earns about $3.00 an hour.

"About 30 percent are hired right out of college by pharmaceutical manufacturers," Deodati said. "They work as medical detail specialists—salesmen, really, but salesmen qualified to talk to a doctor about drugs, dosage, etc. They begin at about $450 a month plus expenses and conceivably could become sales managers at about $15-20,000."

Other areas open to pharmacists include: Hospital pharmacist; hospital administrator; research; drug manufacturing; writing; city, state and federal agency jobs; and teaching.

Mayonnaise inherits its name from Mahon, a port on the island of Minorca off the coast of Spain, where the salad dressing first appeared.

On June 26 and June 27 the unit will be at the A&P Market on Wineow Street from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. On June 28 the unit will be at the Wineow Street market from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. before traveling to Flintstone.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Incongruous

THE WORD IS THAT Mayor Robert Wagner of New York had ended his "feud" with the State Department over the welcoming of distinguished foreign chiefs of state to this country's largest city. Actually, he should not have created the difficulty in the first place. It arose some months ago when Wagner declined to stage an official reception for King Saud of Saudi Arabia. He said the king is "not the kind of person we want to officially recognize." There were references to the lack of democracy in Saudi Arabia and to the king's discrimination against Jewish and Catholic U. S. servicemen, banned from American bases there. This kind of indignation may be admirable on the personal level, but most observers felt that as an official reaction of a prominent American civic chief it suffered from at least two fundamental flaws.

ONE IS THAT IF we should attempt to screen foreign dignitaries on the basis of our agreement or disagreement with their internal governmental policies, we would be busy snubbing them right and left. Indeed, we should never let our great avowed adversary, the Soviet Union, place any sort of emissary within our borders. And the same would hold for most of Russia's enslaved allies. Obviously our most thoughtful diplomats do not regard this as a wise course at a time when we are searching for new paths of communication with those who follow other ways of life. Nor does Wagner himself practice this as a consistent policy. Second, while we are free in this land to debate the pros and cons of any other government's policies and personalities, we cannot confront any particular nation or head of state with two or more official attitudes.

WHEN WASHINGTON extends a cordial welcome to a prospective chief of state visitor, it must be puzzling to him as well as to many of our friends abroad—whatever their form of government—to learn that lesser authorities on their own initiative have chosen to shun him. However loud and vocal our differences of opinion about the lands beyond our shores, we ought, it seems, to have but one policy toward them at a time. Wagner's snub of King Saud amounted in this light to an effort to countermand official U. S. policy. By the same token, Governor Harriman of New York was ill-advised in inviting Cyprus' controversial Archbishop Makarios to visit the United States. He is deeply involved in the British-Cypriot dispute over the island of Cyprus, and only Washington should decide what America's attitude must be toward the archbishop. One cannot expect politicians not to curry favor with various blocks of voters. But we can in fairness demand that they curb their vote-getting impulses short of trying to put their personal stamp on U. S. foreign policy.

IN JAPAN, picket lines opened around a department store to permit couples to enter the store auditorium for marriage ceremonies. Love not only laughs at locksmiths; it dissolves picket lines.

Easing Off

THE SIGN watchers who keep tabs on the nation's economy probably will find some encouragement in the fact that installment credit this March climbed far less than in March of the two previous years. It went up 40 million dollars, but this was a modest advance as compared with 197 million in 1956 and 447 million in 1955. For the moment at least, the inflationary pressures from this source must be regarded as relatively minor. Total installment debt stands, however, at 31.3 billion dollars for the nation, as against 29.1 billion dollars a year ago. Some of this build-up perhaps has been inflationary, but a fair share can be ascribed to the reasonable expectations that flow from population gains and formation of additional families. Possibly the advance could not be held within much narrower limits without causing the economists and the managers of government to start worrying on the other lack—why installment credit isn't growing faster.

Frenchman Claims Reducing Diet Is Sure

NEW YORK—A Parisian named Albert Antenne has just produced a new book called "Slimming The French Way"—and, cherie, you wouldn't believe it!

He claims that ladies who reduce in the Francois manner have dropped up to 150 pounds in four months.

A number of people complain they've dropped a lot in Paris, doing things the French way, but this seems ridiculous.

Well, having canvassed books by everybody from Gaylord to Ida Jean, and listened to the advice of everybody from Mary Margaret to the Good Housekeeping girls, we decided to give the book a look. On pages 98 and 99, we found the key to the whole new French technique.

THERE ARE certain things you simply must not eat if you want to fit into the frocks on the sales rack at Monsieur Dior's. M. Albert Antenne, the author, lists them under these categories: "Very fattening foods," "extreme fattening foods," "dangerously fattening foods" and "foods to avoid at all costs."

Which apparently means that even if they're the highest-priced item at Maxim's and you are showing off—don't.

It was an enlightening experience, and we would like to pass on some of M. Antenne's advice on how to be haute couture in the hips and so on.

Among the very fattening foods

(they have 350 calories to 100 grams, or 3½ ounces, if you follow) are: Fat mutton, semi-fat pork, smoked eel, dried cod, chestnut, goose and porridge.

EVEN MORE billowing upon the buxom are the "extremely fattening" goodies: Gervais cream cheese, pate de foie gras, goats milk cheese, macarons and marzipan. Then there are the "dangerously fattening" puff pastry, chocolate with nuts, peanuts, almonds, walnuts and hazelnuts. And, no matter how tempting "avoid-at-all-costs" olive oil, bone marrow, goose fat and beef dripping. They are devastating.

Antenne believes the potential reducer should put all his love and devotion into one food at a time. For a day, for example he should stick to meat. The next day comes a switch to eggs. This is similar to the poetic pattern of French maids, who devote all their concentrated energies on one female at a time.

THEREFORE, his basic diet for a week consists of a vegetable day, on which he saturates himself with artichokes, asparagus and cabbage; followed by a meat day, on which he consumes lean ham, chicken, veal and winds up with a highball of beef tea.

Then, in order, the egg day, milk day, fish day and fruit day.

On Sunday, the dieter "follows the Ten Commandments and rests."

In case the American victim of avoidupis is not so plump as to pounds in a hurry, the author has some little helpful watch-every day tips to bestow. Such as "Need I rub it in that just doing nothing is a bad habit? Get to work." And, "It would really be best, for all those who want to stay slim, to do away with this absurd habit of eating dessert, once and for all."

FRENCHMEN are renowned lovers of wine. Thus, it is with sad apologies that Antenne points out: "In many cattle breeding areas alcoholic spirits are added to the fodder, as it is considered an almost infallible method of fattening up the animals. I hope I shall be forgiven for writing this; I do not mean to be discourteous."

In slimming the French way the most important thing to avoid—ever over pate and goose—grease is bread. It is caloric itself, invites butter and jam, increases thirst for wine and is habit-forming.

When another of the French said "Let them eat cake," she was passing out a good recommendation. One piece of cake is enough for most people. Bread is habit-forming and too plentiful.

New Loan Unit Aids Private Enterprise

WASHINGTON — (INEA) — The new International Finance Corporation (IFC) has been over two years a-borning, but it is still some time away from delivery of its first investment loan.

IFC was dreamed up at the Inter-American Economic Conference at Petropolis, Brazil, outside Rio, in December, 1954.

It was supposed to answer Latin-American demands for a great big U. S. aid program for that part of the world. But it isn't working out that way at all.

One proposal from the Latin-American cousins—who felt they had been neglected under the Marshall plan—was for 250-million-dollar agricultural-industrial fund, with the U. S. contributing 50 million dollars a year for outright grants.

Another proposal was for an Inter-American Development bank with capital of 450 million dollars. The United States wasn't interested in that, either.

Secy. of Treasury George M. Humphrey, speaking for the U. S., said 100 million was enough.

Africa, 14 from Europe, the U. S. and Canada. No Communist countries are in.

Another Inter-American Conference is scheduled for Buenos Aires in August. If IFC can announce there that it is a going concern, it will be doing well.

The corporation is being organized as an adjunct of the so-called World Bank. President of IFC is Robert F. Garner, former World Bank vice president. He has a staff of 12 and is starting out as a small operation with the hope it will grow as its policies are found sound and productive.

One thing the corporation will not do is take any heat off demands for big government-led government loans under the existing U. S. foreign aid programs. Secy. of State John Foster Dulles has presented Congress with an Eisenhower administration proposal to shift the emphasis from foreign aid grants and giveaways to loans.

BUT THERE won't be any competition between such loans and IFC. U. S. government foreign aid loans will continue to projects—dams, roads, steel mills, health, education and agricultural development intended to raise the living standards and economies of the less-developed, friendly countries.

IFC, on the other hand, will be organized on much more conservative banking principles to promote the spread of private enterprise in a developing world.

Under the policies it has laid down, IFC can invest in any kind of private enterprise. But for the start, investments will be made only in manufacturing or mining, as being most productive.

IFC is authorized to make investments in any member country. But for the time being it will concentrate its investments in the underdeveloped countries.

IFC's big problem is to get maximum results from its limited capital. It doesn't want to get into supercolossal area developments. But it also doesn't want to mire down in small business.

Informally, the corporation is considering investments in the range of $500,000 to two or three million.

IFC WILL BE more interested in investing its capital than in making loans. It hopes to be able to sell its investments after they have proved out, and re-invest the capital.

The corporation is not authorized to take stock in the companies it backs. IFC securities are expected to carry a fixed rate of interest plus a share of the profits. The corporation does not want majority ownership of any company in which it invests. It will exercise no management functions and will not even seek representation on any board of directors.

Today IFC has inquiries from about 200 private business concerns seeking new financing not now available from regular banking sources.

Half of these applications are for Latin America. About 50 are from U. S. companies wanting to invest in Latin America. Most of the others are for Africa and Asia.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Love Letter to a Red-Haired Actress:

You didn't receive any gifts Sunday — not even flowers. That was the way you said you wanted it. I was with you all the way, because you have a right to a point of view. But I think the girls were upset. They had rather planned something. They said: "All the ads say you should give Mother something on Sunday."

I tried to tell them that that was exactly and precisely the reason you did not want anything. You were annoyed at all the phony Mother's Day rackets that go on. You felt it was insulting to turn what once might have been a pleasant sentiment over to the candy-makers, shoemakers, glove-makers and hideously makers.

They said, well, sure, they knew that and they agreed, but every girl in school would say: "What did you give your mother on Sunday?" So I told them to give you breakfast in bed.

THEY DID a good job: pink grapefruit, crisp French toast, strong coffee — and three Sunday newspapers. You were exhausted, in any case. The week in Washington, then getting in at 1:30 in the morning and getting to rehearsal for the TV show a day late because of the Washington engagement, up early for rehearsal all week and then the show Saturday.

You have had it for three straight weeks now, counting "Tempest" rehearsals. You were certainly entitled to breakfast in bed, Mother's Day or no.

THERE'S nothing much to report: the new car works fine (you haven't had a chance to drive it), the script for the picture in Rome was approved and Guy has gone to Rome with it, the new New Orleans movable blinds are in the bay window and the Siamese cat's toes have healed.

There is a new pane of glass in the kitchen door because I hit it with the corner of a tray while you were away and the girls have a new pane of glass in their front window, Miss G. threw a history book through it because Miss C. wouldn't wait for her to walk to school.

Now Comes The Big Drought

MEAN, Va. — For six long weeks no drop of rain has fallen on my beaten-up acres.

The lush springtime grass is turning yellow, the creek has dried up, gnats are making the outdoors untenable and my neighbors once again are worrying about their wells.

There is nothing dramatic about a drought. It just sneaks up gradually under a brassy sun. This particular drought, however, is newsworthy. April ordinarily is one of our rainiest months; its showers, you remember, make May flowers.

On April Fool's Day it did rain: then the sun came out and there haven't been enough clouds in the skies since then even for amateur photographers to capture with yellow filters.

NO SIEGE like this has happened in our county in memory of the oldest citizen. Some of the municipal waterworks already are rationing water. The county forester claims the grass that still looks green is so dry it will burn like tissue paper.

We've had no blazes in our woods yet like those plaguing the Northeast, but our volunteer fire departments are on an around-the-clock emergency basis. One careless cigarette could cause a disaster.

A city fellow moved into his new house down the pike a couple of weeks ago and immediately moved his lawn with his shiny new rotary machine. The result looked like green velvet. Now it's pale yellow. If he doesn't get rain soon, he'll have to replant.

We oldtimers used our heads. Any excuse to keep from cutting the grass is a good excuse to us. So we haven't mowed since the rains stopped. Our lawns look rough and they're speckled with weeds, but the grass still is alive.

MY BRIDE'S ROW of Canadian hemlocks, all 110 of them, now are so deeply rooted that we don't believe they're in danger. Their new growth, however, is sparse and some day when a forester eyes them down and examines the rings, he'll note a peculiar growing season for the year 1957.

The extreme dryness has been a delight for a large variety of bugs. The Japanese beetles seldom have been thicker, while tentworms have set up shop in all our apple trees. These latter look like caterpillars; they weave tents around themselves until they grow big and hungry. Then they burst out and eat all the leaves on whatever tree they chose for home.

We've been busy getting rid of them. Some people use torches to burn them, but this scorches the trees. Our method is to grab each tent and toss it into a bucket of coal oil. This isn't pleasant, or easy, either, but I know no better way.

OUR WELL STILL gives water, but we're not daring fate. We're continuing to bathe, but we're not letting the shower run longer than necessary. We're also concerned about the numerous gallons of water the automatic dish-beside your night table and, also, a note from Lucy Herndon Crockett.

I came in late and hungry the other night and finished up that wheel of Gethsemani cheese that Bill Hunt sent us. It's wonderful on hot crackers at 3 o'clock in the morning.

I took Mary Orr to a play opening while you were away and Reggie is back from bird-watching in Spain three weeks early. He fell off a cliff while watching a culture come in for a landing. He was bruised but nothing was broken. He reports that Spain, which may interest Lucy, is depressing as to people and exhilarating as to birds.

Mary's and Reggie's play seems set for fall production. It's under new management and they are quite excited. It's the play set in Mexico, the one in which I helped to concoct a name for a mythical volcano in, which is as tortured and twisted and wrenched sentence as this typewriter ever has managed, but you'll know what I mean.

I AM ON PAGE 142 of "The Road to Toluca" and worked in the bit about old disco, the Otomi who first taught me the essential words in that resitful language. Also the bit about the cave, the idols and how the winds blow up if a non-believer enters the cave. I also saved a magazine for you, with some background on very early England and the blond people who came over from Germany centuries ago. It seems, partially, to settle the old cold war: were the Celts a people or a language? Both.

But that British historian who writes novels about extremely early Britain is off base by 447 years. You said he was when you read his third book on the subject.

PERDIDA Junco writes from Acapulco that things have quieted there since the two murders and the whole town hopes American tourists won't either avoid it or come in fear and trembling. She also says that that 98-year-old tattooing woman has made us a white lace hammock nine feet long and seven feet wide. Now we have something for the guest bedroom.

Sleep, baby. You've earned it.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — We curly-haired little moppets shook our ringlets in gladness relief the other day when President Eisenhower identified himself as hair-curler-in-chief. Until then we had lived under the impression that Secretary of the Treasury George Magoffin Humphrey had been talking only for himself when he forecast a depression that would curl the hair.

It isn't that we want another depression, or feel we could use one, goodness knows. Our hair is naturally curly. And anyway, rather than live again through anything like the last one we would trade tresses with Sam Rayburn.

But it is reassuring to learn from Mr. Eisenhower himself just who is the "strong man" of the Eisenhower administration. We've been beset, bewildered and bedeviled by such a multitude of conflicting claims. Until we got the straight of it from the horse's mouth, if Mr. Eisenhower will permit an esoteric allusion, we saw so many claimants jockeying for position it looked like a claiming race.

ONE SCHOOL OF political handicappers contended that the "strong man" obviously was Secretary Humphrey because there was never any stoffin' at Magoffin. Another school, with a high enrollment, proclaimed the doctrine that the "real strong man" was Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. A third advanced the theory that the "really real strong man" was Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

There was even an apostate school, staffed largely by official family malcontents, which held that Ike's younger brother, Milton, would be the strong man, if he didn't have such a weakness for staying in school.

BUT THE PRESIDENT personally scratched all these claimants at his last White House press conference. He informed us, in almost as many words, that he is his own strong man.

He told us that he knew what Humphrey was going to say before he uttered the hair-curling depression threat, and approved it. The President let us know that when it comes to curled hair, he's the Administration's real and only Sanson—and that anyone who tries to tell us otherwise is talking with the jawbone of a you-know-what.

The President declared the Administration's fiscal policy is his, and nobody else's. He also said he feels fine. Even while striving to explain how he defended both his budget and his Treasury lieutenant's suggestion that it was too high, he looked fiscally fit.

I must confess, however, that I emerged from the press conference in a state of daze. This condition was not ameliorated when one of our sharpest political analysts, an oracle with a mind like a finely-honed pumpkin, caught up with me and said: "What did the man say in there?"

I GAVE THE OAF the haughty stare that has quailed a thousand quails.

"If you are speaking of the strong man of the Eisenhower Administration," I retorted, "he was clearly personified. He said that he wasn't preparing any coffin for Magoffin because he knew what the Secretary was going to say, and even helped put it in writing."

"Yeh," agreed the analyst, "he said that he and Humphrey collaborated on it. But wait a minute!—doesn't that make him only fifty per cent expert?"

"No," I explained, "it makes Humphrey half a ghostwriter. So, if Humphrey ever suggests again that Eisenhower spending is so great it could bring on a depression, remember that Eisenhower told him to say it."

The analyst looked at me through glazing eyes.

"Sometimes," he muttered, "it seems to me as if Mr. Eisenhower keeps saying that his budget shouldn't be cut, but that if it is cut, it was his idea!"

Malcolm Renamed School Board Head

The Allegany County Board of Education was organized for another year at its annual election yesterday with Kenneth R. Malcolm as president, Westernport, president since 1951, being re-elected.

Malcolm has been board president ever since his first appointment to the board by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in 1951.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley of La. was elected vice president at the board's annual organizational meeting. She succeeds Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg, who moved for Mrs. Buckley's election. William J. Gunter was re-elected attorney to the board.

All five board members were present at yesterday's session and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said each of the board members received two assignments to present diplomas at graduations in county schools next month.

On Tuesday, June 4, J. Goodloe Jackson of Cumberland will present diplomas at Oldtown, High School, Malcolm at the new Bruce High School in Westernport, Mrs. Buckley at Mt. Savage High School and Mrs. Cook at Fort Hill High School.

On Wednesday, June 5, Joseph M. Miller of Cumberland will present diplomas at Allegany

New Quarters In South End For SA Urged

Advisory Board Has Seven-Point Program For Organization

The Salvation Army Advisory Board has recommended that new quarters be constructed in South End. It was one of seven recommendations by the board.

The program, proposed in a survey made by Lt. Commissioner Albert E. Chesham, Richmond, Va., called for the retention of the Salvation Army Citadel building at 115 North Mechanic Street.

Comm. Chesham concluded that the present South Cumberland Corps headquarters, formerly known as the Salvation Army Outpost, should be sold.

He urged that suitable ground be purchased in the vicinity of the present property at 511 Virginia Avenue.

The new site, he said, should be large enough for a recreation field, a gymnasium and a small chapel. He suggested the site might be secured as a living memorial.

His conclusions called for the Salvation Army here to:

Get into closer touch with local problem people of the city.

Offer an expanded counseling service.

Strive to improve various activities.

Develop further the Men's Club program.

Invite Cumberlanders to see at first hand what is being done at the Citadel and South Cumberland corps.

Remain "where we are" in North Cumberland.

Sell the old property in South Cumberland.

Comm. Chesham pointed out the South Cumberland Corps, established 75 years ago, was one of the earliest units opened by the Salvation Army.

During the last 20 years, he said, the Corps has been operated with poorer equipment than the Citadel while carrying about half the load.

But he said there have been considerable periods when the Corps operated without officers.

He noted that the Citadel was built by citizens of the city in 1921 in appreciation of the Army's services in World War I, has operated as a practical workshop for 35 years and he saw no reason for making a change.

adding:

"A light house must needs be as near the rocks as possible."

Lewis J. Ort, chairman, reported yesterday's meeting would be the last regular session of the Advisory Board until September.

Area Woman Killed In Car-Tractor Trailer Accident

A former resident of Parsons was killed instantly Saturday night in an automobile-tractor trailer accident near Gore, Va.

Victim of the crash was Mrs. Wanda Elizabeth Summerfield, 37, of Bluemont, Va., who was traveling home to visit her parents on Mothers Day.

Injured in the mishap were her husband, Jesse Summerfield, and two children, Barbara Ann and Carl Summerfield.

Authorities said the accident occurred near Gore, Va., along U. S. Route 50 as the Summerfield family was traveling west toward Kereus where the victim's mother and father reside.

A tractor-trailer loaded with about 14 tons of glass and traveling east was reported to have jack-knifed and overturned on the Summerfield car.

Summerfield and Barbara Ann were treated at a Winchester, Va., hospital and released, while

Carl was admitted with internal injuries.

A 38-year-old Westernport man was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland early Saturday morning with injuries sustained in a one-car crash near Deer Park.

He is John Laughlin, who suffered possible fractures of both jaws as well as lacerations of his head. His condition last night was reported "fairly good."

Tfc. Robert D. Henline said the details leading up to the accident are sketchy and he was unable to talk to Mr. Laughlin at the hospital because of his condition.

The victim was reported to have undergone surgery on Saturday at the hospital. Trooper Henline said the accident occurred at approximately 1:45 a. m. Saturday along State Route 135, about one mile west of Deer Park.

The car hit an embankment and turned over. The trooper said that after he arrived on the scene the victim had been removed to the hospital in an ambulance and all indications show he was traveling in the direction of Oakland at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Summerfield, who was a native of Kereus, was born June 6, 1919 and was a daughter of Frank and Mary (Gravin) Allender.

Surviving besides her parents, are three sisters, Mrs. Irene Wingfield, Montrose, W. Va., Route 2, Mrs. Louise Murphy, Parsons, Mrs. Mildred Allen, Morgantown.

Three brothers, Robert Allender and Jack Allender, of Kereus, William Allender, Pleasant Dale, W. Va. Mrs. Summerfield was a member of the EUB Church.

The body will be at the Greenleaf Funeral Home in Parsons after 9 a. m. today. A service place.

will be held at the funeral home on Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Bill Angel, pastor of Irons Chapel EUB Church near Parsons will officiate and interment will be in Pettit Cemetery near Kereus.

Joint Return Doesn't Apply To Man's Bar

BALTIMORE (AP)—Richard Edelen of the Internal Revenue Service told of the man who came into the office to file his return. "My wife and I own and operate this bar," he said, "and I'd like you to check this return."

"Joint?" asked Edelen, referring to the return.

"No sir," said the indignant taxpayer. "This is a respectable place."

Two-Piano Recital, German Song Cycle Mark Program

A two-piano recital and the presentation of a cycle from Heinrich Heine's "Book of Songs," featured the program of the Music and Arts Club last night in Compton Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Anthony Bollino, head of the piano department of the college, and Mrs. Herbert Loar, presented a group arranged for two pianos, including "Minuetto," from Sonata Op. 2 No. 1, by Beethoven; "Liedeslieder," Six Waltzes Op. 52, Brahms; and "Valse Brillante," from Opus 48, Robert Schumann, was presented by Charles Sager, head of the Music Department of the college. The poems set to music by Schumann are from "Lyric Intermezzo," by Heine.

Mrs. Sager sang the entire cycle in German. The English translation by Alice Matullath was printed on the program together with foot notes. The songs were published in 1822 and 1823.

Mrs. Sager was ably accompanied by Mrs. Hollins.

Mrs. Howard Irwin, president of the club, welcomed the audience.

Following the program a social was held, with Mrs. Samuel T. Weatherholt and Mrs. Irwin presiding at the punch bowls.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ivan Hall, Mrs. M. C. VanMeter, Mrs. Loar, and Mrs. Kenneth Wolf.

To Seed Grass By Flood Wall

Seeding of the filled in area along the Wills Creek flood wall above Valley Street is being planned.

The E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor for Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the flood control project, has placed fill in an 8-10 foot-wide strip of new land adjoining the flood wall on the east side of the creek.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said the contractor will lime, fertilize and seed the area but, because of the threat of fire, cannot put down a straw mulch. Instead, Albrecht workers will keep the area wet until the grass is established.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Why so much emphasis on large bosoms, slight-figured women? In magazine art, the movies, etc., a woman has to have at least a 36-inch bust line to be considered attractive.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Why is so much emphasis put on large bosoms? Personally, I am thankful to have the normal number of arms and legs; but I am developing a terrific complex because I don't feel physically attractive to my husband.

I am 24 and, since the birth of my children, I am completely flat-chested. I keep myself neat and dress becomingly; and my husband says I'm just fine, and what I don't have doesn't matter; but I notice he constantly brings home photographic magazines, featuring large-busted nudes, and gazes at them longingly.

Is there anything short of surgery that will give a flat-chested matron a rounded bust line?

Exploitation Of Anxieties

DEAR V. V.: Why is so much emphasis put on large bosoms? Well, it is my impression that the latterday cult of the outsize bust has its origins in the entertainment industry, stemming from Hollywood principally—and from the burlesque sector earlier. It has been "inspired" and perpetuated for sales promotion purposes, consciously or unconsciously, on the part of its ballyhoosers.

In essence, it suggestively offers modern man a fantasy return to the "magic" consolations of breast. When he was an infant, or a very small lad, of an age to qualify self-respectfully for breast nursing, his mother's bosom probably appeared very large indeed to his baby perspective. And so, when he reaches man's estate, the fantasy bosom (refuge from life) has to be ballooned proportionately, to correspond to his infantile (or daydream) concept.

Matter Of Thought, Not Of Dimensions

In other words, modern man's presumably "romantic" admiration of the abnormally large bosom actually refers to an insecurity obsession of sorts. It tells the story of the average unthinking man's sense of inadequacy, his feeling of not being equal to it, when he confronts the ferocious tensions of life on the material plane, in this turbulent century.

No doubt you've heard the aphorism that "beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder." Which reminds me of the couplet: "Two men looked out from prison bars; one saw mud, the other stars!" The cast of mind, the habit of thinking, made the difference in what was seen.

A doctor writing in a national magazine a few years ago, championed the modest or inconspicuous bosom. He expressed a mental hygienist's concern about the latterday distorted notion that a small or slight bust isn't artistically right or physically admirable.

Don't Envy Freak Design

The function of the mammary gland is to suckle the helpless young, he pointed out; and the size of the feature, large or small, is an incidental attribute of feminine charm—as discerned by a well-balanced man. That is, by a man who is emotionally healthy, mentally mature and physically sure of himself; who, in brief, has harmonious use of his powers and faculties.

In his medical practice, the doctor had encountered many worried wives and unmarried girls, suffering as you are, from factually unjustified inferiority feelings about their chest measurements—which, to the physician's knowledge, were normal, if not of current "calendar art" dimensions.

There is this comic aspect with which to console yourself: The oversize bosom is a freak design from the biologist's view, though "sold" as beauty by the anxiety-exploiters of our times. The whole silly business is redolent of savagery and spiritual darkness. Bosom-swagger and sweater-girl conceit are off the same shelf in history as rings in the nose and conical skulls and tattooed bodies, as would-be "love" enticements. It's just a passing "freak fixee" in ignorant minds—a fashion that will fade as enlightenment dawns.—A. H.

City Firemen Ban Permits For Burning

Grass, Brush, Wood Areas Tender Dry; Need Soaking Rain

Burning permits within the city limits has been discontinued by the Fire Department because of the dry condition of grass, brush and wooded areas.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the permits will be discontinued until a "good soaking rain" comes along to ease the present fire danger situation.

In commenting on the dry condition of woods and brush area within the city, Chief Parker is asking the public to cooperate in every way possible by not lighting off brush fires and by being careful with lighted cigarettes and matches.

Other than a slight shower here Saturday evening there have been rainless days for over two weeks. The last general rain in Maryland was on April 8.

District Forester William H. Johnson reported that no forest fires had been discovered in his four-county Western Maryland district yesterday.

He said scattered light showers at several points had slightly lessened the fire danger.

One light shower occurred in the area between Rawlings and Pinto. A second dampened the woods in an area east of Cumberland. Another occurred in western Washington County in the Siding Hill area. Weekend rainfall was measured at only between one-one-hundredth and three-one-hundredths of an inch.

Greater humidity and less wind also helped keep the fire index a little lower than it was last week.

New Filtration Plant Basins To Be Tested

The city's new contact basins are to be put through their paces soon, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

He said the Inflico Company, Tucson, Ariz., has been asked to send representatives here to run operational tests of the equipment it furnished to the city.

The big 45-foot units will serve as combination chemical and flocculation basins to remove sediment from city water.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(INS)—First-quarter sales of $89,475,000, up 18 per cent from 1956, and earnings of $9,692,181, or 58 cents per common share, were reported to stockholders of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing today. Earnings in the same period to year ago were $8,632,518, or 52 cents a share.

NEW YORK — (INS) — International Nickel Co. of Canada reported today both its sales and net income in the quarter ended March 31 were below the figures for the corresponding period of 1956. Sales dropped from $110,648,000 to $109,928,000 and net earnings declined to $23,504,000, or $1.61 per share, from $26,614,000, or $1.79 a share, a year earlier. Lower copper prices and a strike were blamed by the company for the reduced earnings.

Medical Lab Has Made Baby Buzzer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A baby specialist here reported that a cause of considerable anxiety among mothers with faulty hearing is that they won't be awakened by baby's crying during the night. The specialist—a woman—suggested a solution and Medical College Research Laboratories produced a gadget to wake the deaf mothers.

It's an electronic device that converts the slightest sound from the baby's crib into vibrations which the mother receives from an instrument under her bed pillow. A Service Club which sponsored the development lends the device on request.

Women Workers Make Up 37% Of U. S. Labor Force

MIAMI BEACH—(INS)—Women workers are being accepted in much larger numbers these days and now make up 37 per cent of the nation's labor force. Some 21 million women are now employed in the United States, according to Dr. Henry David, of Columbia University. Dr. David, managing director of the National Manpower Council, told a recent Miami Beach convention that nearly one-half are more than 40 years old and roughly 60 per cent are married. He said 30 per cent of all married women have jobs. "Tradition has designated women as better at some jobs than men. These beliefs persist regardless of their accuracy and thus some tasks are assigned according to sex rather than ability," he declared.

'Fair Share' Would Hike W. Va. Individual Taxes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Making each West Virginia taxpayer pay no more than his fair share of taxes will mean more money for counties and communities, a state committee said today.

Such a policy, it added, also will mean higher taxes for most individual taxpayers.

The State Advisory Committee on Equalization and Revaluation of General Property, at its second meeting, adopted a statement of policy calling for evaluating property uniformly for tax purposes.

"An equitable and uniform evaluation of all classes of real and personal property," the statement said, will mean more money for counties and local communities.

In the committee's words: "The committee recognizes that this policy will result in increased tax liabilities for most individual taxpayers and will make available increased local revenues for county and community services."

Advice Rolls In— Congressmen Get Many 'Tips' About Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—And still the advice to Congress rolls in.

Each mail brings a fresh batch of suggestions from constituents who know how the government should be run. President Eisenhower undoubtedly will drop a few helpful hints when he goes on the air tonight to discuss his budget.

State legislatures, apparently having the local situations well in hand, graciously pass on tips so that congressmen also can get the job done. Almost every copy of the Congressional Record has several pages of advice to Congress.

Many of the suggestions deal with what appears to be two top questions of the day: How can the federal government save money? And can taxes be cut?

The Missouri Senate, for example, deals with both questions. It wants the federal government to cut down on its spending, right now, and it wants a cut in federal income, estate and gift taxes.

But this may not mean much of a net saving to the Missouri taxpayer. For one complaint by the state senators is that federal officials are so busy tapping the taxpayer there's no room left for the state and local fellows to hang their buckets.

The Delaware Senate is against excise taxes on travel. But, like many a less official adviser, this Senate also has a pet project it's pushing. It joined with the Delaware House to ask Congress to put up enough money to make "the Delaware River and the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal safe passageways for all ships."

Other legislatures have their projects—and hopes.

Hawaii wants to be cut in on federal aid for its defense highways. Oklahoma wants all help possible given to the coal industry. Oregon wants immediate authorization and federal con-

Railroad Fares In Virginia Hiked By Five Per Cent

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—All railroads operating passenger service in Virginia were given permission yesterday to increase their intrastate fares by five per cent, effective June 1.

The State Corporation Commission granted the railroads' request at the close of a one-hour hearing. No opponents appeared at the hearing.

The seven railroads already had received permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase interstate fares five per cent.

Heavy operating deficits on the passenger service were cited by witnesses for the railroads in asking the increase.

The railroads are the Norfolk & Western; Seaboard Air Line; Southern; Atlantic Coast Line; Chesapeake & Ohio; Richmond,

Mayor Eves Gives Views On Tax Plan

Limitation But Not Rate Increase Under Program Of Council

Mayor Roy W. Eves said today that a city proposal to increase the tax limitation is not a lump sum hike in the tax rate and "there is nothing mandatory about it."

The tax limitation plan, he added, merely established a new "red light" for the city in providing for funds if needed. On the other hand, he continued, if the city gets unexpected revenue or its expenses are reduced, the present tax rate could conceivably be reduced.

The proposal which the city has made would up the present tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50, providing a 25-cent "cushion" for taxation should the necessity arise. Until all requests are in and a budget set in August, the tax rate cannot be determined. Without authority to raise taxes over the $1.25 limitation, an emergency could result if operating expenses for the next fiscal year exceed expected revenue.

Wouldn't Take Full Amount

In any event, it was pointed out, it is unlikely any increase would take the entire 25 cents which would be granted by approval of the tax limitation proposal.

Petitions are being circulated calling for a referendum on the plan. And The South Cumberland Business Men's Association has voiced opposition to what it termed an increase in the "tax rate."

Mayor Eves took note of the South End group's statement today.

He said that an article under the South End group's authorship was "so worded as to create the impression that the operating expenses of the City of Cumberland in the year 1950 were $578,700 and for the year 1956 were $911,020, representing an increase of 57 per cent. These calculations apparently did not take into consideration other sources of revenue received by the city, other than ad valorem property taxes, which may be properly used for operating expenses. As a matter of fact the city could not have begun to render the municipal services required in our city on an operating budget of $78,700 in the year 1950, or for some years prior thereto. The operating budget for the year 1950, and the actual operating revenues appearing in 1950 amounted to $1,002,600, or almost double the amount used in last Friday's article by the South End Business Men's Association.

Sets Record Straight

In an effort to set the record straight, and the public certainly is entitled to an accurate picture, the following represents the appropriations for operating expenses for the years 1950 to July 1, 1957, inclusive, which may be verified from the reports of the annual audit of the city.

1950-51	$1,002,600
1951-52	1,012,251
1952-53	1,084,875
1953-54	1,101,320
1954-55	1,197,881
1955-56	1,297,881
1956-57 (estimated)	1,404,825

This represents an increase in seven years of 40 per cent rather than the figure of 57 per cent which appeared in Friday's article.

"Most of this 40 per cent increase, as was emphasized in a recent article by city auditor Arthur B. Gibson, represents the cost to the City Employees Retirement Plan, Social Security, which has recently been put into effect for municipal employees, wage increases and cost of maintenance of that portion of the flood control project already accepted. These increases are in line with similar expenses in private business and industry, and the pay of most city employees at present is under that received in cities of the same population bracket.

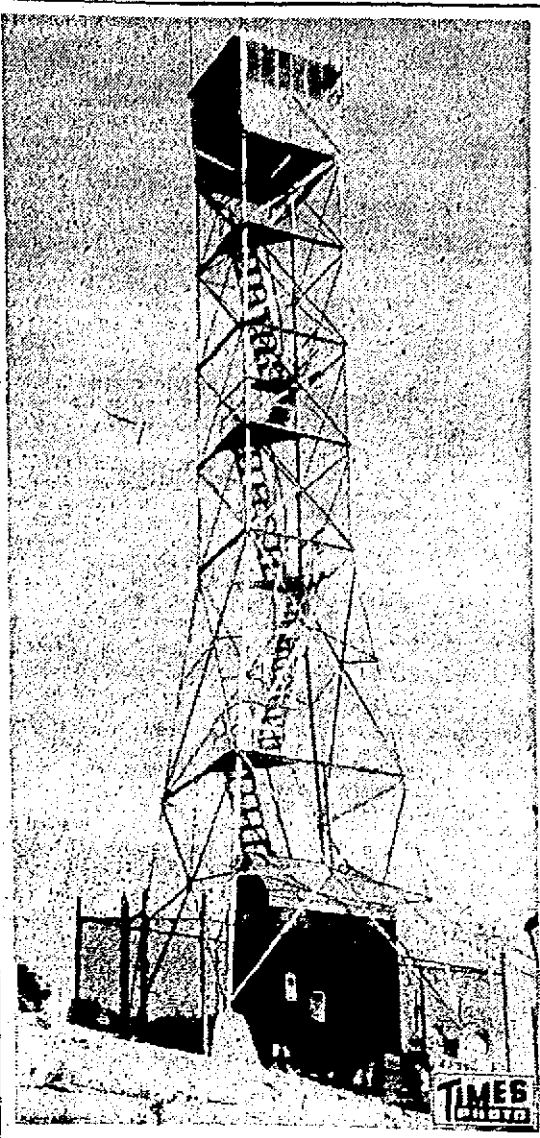

"When the total city budget, which includes both operating expenses and debt service, are compared between the years 1950 to July 1, 1957 it will be noted that there has been an overall increase of 23 per cent.

"I commend private citizens and groups who are vigilant regarding public expenditures; however, such groups when endeavoring to affect public opinion, have a duty to present the whole picture, otherwise a public disservice can be rendered in a matter of serious public concern," Eves said.

City Police Attempting To Locate Mary Brown

City Police today were asked to help locate a Miss Mary E. Brown who is believed to be residing in this city.

Det. Thomas See said Miss Brown's relatives in Guilford, Miss., are seeking her in order to settle the estate of the late Charles E. Brown.

Gas Firm To Extend Line To Garrett County Plant

A six-mile gas line will be run to the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company plant at Jennings from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's main three miles north of Grantsville.

The six-inch pipe line, in addition to serving the brick plant, will give residents of Grantsville an increased supply of natural gas.

C. O. Robbins, district manager for the C&A Gas Company, said here today that the start of the project is awaiting approval of the Federal Power Commission.

Contract Awarded
The contract will be handled by the Raughman Contracting Company of LaVale, he added.

There will be a measuring station at the main pipe line, which runs along the Mason-Dixon line, one at Grantsville and another at the Jennings plant. An official of the Harbison-Walker Company in Pittsburgh said today the firm is changing from producer gas to natural gas at its Jennings plant.

Producer gas is made by converting coal in a process at the plant. It is harder to handle than natural gas, the spokesman added.

The natural gas is expected to improve the quality of the bricks produced by the company, he added.

Other Improvements
The conversion to natural gas is another step in the wide-scale improvement of the Garrett County refractory.

The grinding and tunnel kilns have been modernized, the main building has been rewired and has been given a new roof, along with other general overhauling projects.

Robbins said the six-inch main will give Grantsville customers improved service. The town has been supplied by a two-inch line for many years.

The utility had plans for replacing this line. By servicing the brick plant it will be able to accomplish the replacement and supply the brick plant.

Man Backed For Humane Officer Post

The Western Maryland Wildlife Federation today recommended the appointment of Merwin R. Hast, RD 2, Union Grove, as humane officer under the new county dog law.

A letter citing qualifications for a humane officer was sent along with the recommendation to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. It was signed by Herbert L. Knepp, president of the federation, which is comprised of 17 sports groups.

Knepp said the humane officer should know the value of various dogs, be able to determine physical condition, know how to handle animals, be of high moral character and have a personality to enable him to cooperate with the public in handling his duties.

A letter was also received from Hast in which he applied for the position.

When the minutes of last Friday's session of the board were read, Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he wanted it placed in the record that he was opposed to the purchase of two dump trucks by the county as they are "not needed." Wilkinson was absent at the Friday meeting. The county had asked bids on the trucks and ordered advertisements placed in local newspapers asking for bids. Two old trucks in use will be traded in the transaction.

A letter of appreciation was read in which Angela Senkbeil, secretary of the Western Maryland Coin Club, thanked the commissioners for their resolution recognizing National Coin Week of May 6 to 12.

Remonstrance Hearing Set For May 21

The hearing on a remonstrance against issuance of an on and off sale beer and wine license to Kathleen Seaders and Thomas O'Toole for premises in the 1000-block of Oldtown Road has been postponed until May 28 at 10:30 a. m.

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners had originally set the date for May 21 but attorneys for the two applicants asked for a week's delay.

About 100 residents of the neighborhood signed a remonstrance against the permit. They said the establishment would not have suitable parking place and that there are several licensed establishments in the neighborhood.

The premises were formerly used by the Allegany Instrument Company.

Vandals Pay Airport Visit

A serious outbreak of vandalism at Cumberland Airport over the weekend brought this warning from Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent, today: "Vandals will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law."

Heller said that Sunday night several outside toilets were upset, several sections of guard rail broken, whisky and beer bottles broken on the airport runways, and a light shattered.

Heller said he has taken the matter up with West Virginia authorities and they have promised full cooperation in an effort to stop the vandalism. The City of Cumberland Police Department has also promised to send a cruiser to check airport property at intervals, he added. Any apprehended destroying airport property will be turned over to West Virginia authorities for prosecution.

Fire Tower Watchers Keep Lookout For Forest Blazes

By C. A. LANCASTER
Evening Times Staff Writer

Each day the thousands of acres of woodland in the four Western Maryland counties are under the eagle-eyed scrutiny of the fire tower watchers.

These men and women are eager to nip in the bud any blaze that would harm valuable forests, the king-pin in conservation.

There are three towers in Allegany County, six in Garrett, two in Washington, and three in Frederick. William A. Johnson, district forester observes.

Crossing Gate Date Reset For May 27

Mayor Roy W. Eves said today that the date for the automatic railroad crossing gates, which are synchronized with traffic lights at three crossings on Henderson Avenue, will go into operation, May 27, instead of tomorrow as announced earlier.

Next Monday, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum in the presence of the Mayor and Council, will inspect the installations at Pear, Valley and Knox Streets. Approval is anticipated.

The gates and lights will begin operating officially the following Monday, Eves added.

Installation of the gates and lights was at the expense of the B&O Railroad. The original estimate was $100,000.

The B&O's signal department was in charge of installation through the Pittsburgh Division, and the Queen City Electric Company had the wiring contract. The city assumed the obligation of widening curbs on Henderson Avenue near the crossings and will assume maintenance of the lights after they are placed in operation.

Signals are geared to magnetic trippers beneath the avenue's surface and on the three streets. They allow east-west movement when trains are on the track. When there are no trains, east-west traffic will have a green light until a car approaches the crossing from the Centre Street side or from streets entering the avenue from the upper side.

Brotherhood of Maintenance and Way officials have said that watchmen on the three crossings will lose their jobs as a result of the new gates since the men's seniority is good only on this end of the Pittsburgh Division.

County Orchards To Be Inspected

Allegany County orchards will be visited by Dr. C. O. Weaver, plant pathologist at the University of Maryland, on Thursday.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, said Dr. Weaver will check with orchardists on problems they have encountered and will also inspect spray work done so far this season.

Wallace Harding, extension entomologist at the university, visited the county today to check the infestation of alfalfa weevil on various farms. He will also visit several farms which have used a spray against the weevil to determine the effect of the insecticide.

These radio-equipped towers are located at Dan's Rock, Thayerville in Garrett County, Gainville in Allegany County, and Green Spring, W. Va. The 29-year-old father was working on his fishing equipment while the girls were wading nearby. Suddenly the girls started to scream and Mongold attempted to save them.

Mount Savage Boosts County Cancer Total

Allegany county's 1957 Cancer Crusade went over the $8,500 mark today with the receipt of $262.29 from Mount Savage where the house-to-house canvass was conducted under the direction of Mrs. Gregory A. King.

Today's campaign total, representing donations secured by the women's division in the canvass of homes and other donations, including memorials to persons who have been victims of cancer in recent months, amounted to $8,688.78, according to Mrs. Regina Conti, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society.

A check for $50 was received today from Cumberland Local 616, International Hod Carriers and Common Laborers, the second largest donation received so far from a labor union organization.

Another report received today was that from Willis Smith, of Vale Summit, who collected $30.75 in a canvass of 40 homes in that area, making his calls after first distributing considerable American Cancer Society educational material.

Mallow said his brother-in-law was an excellent swimmer, and he couldn't figure out what happened. The family frequently visited the Duckworth cabin, but Mallow said Mongold was not too familiar with the river.

Mallow said neither Sandra Kay, Diana Lee nor Vada Ann could swim.

Three From One Family Lose Lives

Father, Two Daughters Victims; One Girl Saved By Brother

The calm, still waters of the Potomac River South Branch yesterday claimed the lives of a 29-year-old father and two of his three children about three miles below Green Spring, W. Va.

Victims of the triple tragedy were Virgil (Buzz) Mongold, Diana Lee Mongold, 11, and Sandra Kay Mongold, 9, of Bowman's Addition.

Although the incident took the lives of three persons, it also produced a hero in the person of Harry A. Mallow, 22, who saved his little sister, Vada Ann Mallow, from the water.

Bought Fishing Rod

In an interview this morning Mallow reviewed the tragedy which claimed the life of his brother-in-law, and the two little girls.

Mallow said his brother-in-law had received his pay from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday and purchased a new fishing rod.

Mongold phoned the Mallow youth and the family decided to spend the evening at the cabin of Raymond Duckworth which they visited frequently.

Mongold and his two daughters, Diana Lee and Sandra Kay, and Vada Ann Mallow and a friend, Miss Bobby Aldender, went to the river bank, while Mallow, his sister, Rosalie Mongold (the victim's wife) and their mother stayed at the cabin. The Mongold's infant daughter, Vickie Lynn, was also at the cabin.

The family left Cumberland around 5:30 p. m. and the accident occurred less than two hours later.

Shout For Help

Mallow said shortly after Mongold and the children went to the river bank he heard them screaming for help. The 22-year-old youth raced to the river, where his friend, Miss Aldender, told him the children and Mongold were drowning.

Miss Aldender had attempted to grab one of the youngsters, but suffered a cramp and had to leave the water.

Mallow said at first he couldn't see anything but the calm water, and then suddenly noticed a head bobbing up and down in the water near the opposite shore.

The youth started swimming toward the head, and when he reached it recognized that it was his 10-year-old sister, Vada Ann Mallow.

Mallow battled the little girl for almost a half hour before he was able to get her ashore. He couldn't remember how many times he went under water, but stated that several times he felt like giving up, but something forced him to keep fighting.

Arms Useless

Mallow said that when he reached Vada Ann his arms and legs were "paralyzed" from swimming, and that by the time he pulled her from the river he was whipped.

By this time, Mongold's wife, Rosalie Mongold, had reached the river bank and started swimming towards the opposite shore. Mallow was so beaten that he couldn't swim back. He walked to Mongold's boat and started out, but the boat dipped and the youth was forced to get another boat.

Shortly after he was on the river, Mallow noticed the three bodies of the victims. He "fished" out Diana Lee, but his arms were so useless that he returned to shore.

Two other youths, who were in the area, went into the river and brought out Mongold and Sandra Kay.

The youths laid the bodies side by side, and Mallow kept going from one body to another blowing air into their lungs.

Mallow said Mongold was blue when he reached shore, but the little girls retained some of their pink color. The 22-year-old youth worked more than an hour and half trying to bring the victims back to life by applying artificial respiration.

Good Swimmer

Mallow said his sister, Mrs. Mongold, and his mother, Mrs. Della M. Mallow, Bowman's Addition, kept going back into the water, and both were in a hysterical condition. Mrs. Mongold was taken to Memorial Hospital here by ambulance where she was released shortly before noon today.

Mallow said his brother-in-law was an excellent swimmer, and he couldn't figure out what happened. The family frequently visited the Duckworth cabin, but Mallow said Mongold was not too familiar with the river.

Carroll Shelby To Drive In Races Here Sunday

Texas Pilot Named No. 1 Sports Car Man In '56

Cumberland's National Sports Car Races, already assured of a record entry list, received additional prominence today with the announcement that Carroll Shelby, of Dallas, Texas, will participate in the big weekend classic at Municipal Airport.

One of the biggest names in sports car racing and winner of the 1956 Cumberland Hill Climb, the 34-year-old Shelby has been entered in the Edgar Vandegriff Memorial, final event on the Sunday card. Pitted against him will be some of the nation's best, including Walt Hansen of Westfield, N. J., winner of last year's feature here.

Named "Sports Car Driver of the Year" for 1956 by Sports Illustrated, Shelby will be behind the wheel of a Maserati 300 S, D modified, owned by John Edgar Enterprises of California. It is the only Maserati entered in the closing event, the other cars being four Jaguars, four Ferraris, a Cadillac-Alford, a Kaiser-Darrin, a Kurtis and a Cunningham C6R.

Hansen In Jag

Hansen, who drove a D-Jag belonging to Auto Engineering Company of Bedford, Mass., last year, will pilot the same type of racer Sunday. This time, however, he will be driving for Briggs Cunningham, the millionaire sports car enthusiast, who also has another Jag in the race driven by John Fitch. Briggs is slated to drive his own car, a Cunningham C 6R, in the memorial event.

Fitch, who hails from Stamford, Conn., was a fighter pilot in World War II. In 1953 he won the International Grand Prix at Sebring, Fla., while driving a Cunningham.

Shelby, Hansen, Fitch et al will be attempting to break the record set last year by Hansen when he averaged 68 miles per hour during the 50-minute grind around the tricky airport course.

Shelby Races Abroad

Shelby won the second annual Cumberland climb last year on Breakneck Road with an Indianapolis Ferrari, being clocked at 1:12:40 for the mile-and-a-half ascent of the hill with a 22 percent grade and five curves, including a treacherous horseshoe.

The internationally famous Shelby has participated in races in England, France, Germany and Italy and wasn't even around long enough last year to accept his winning hill climb trophy, taking off from here for Salt Lake City where he took part in speed trials the following day.

Sunday's all-day racing program is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 a. m., with the fourth number being a 20-minute sprint for women drivers. Nine distaff pilots are entered in this event, getting under way at noon. Heading the list is Mrs. M. R. J. (Peggy) Wyllie of Allison Park, Pa., who won here last year.

Other women slated to participate in the fourth race are Joan Ellis, Indianapolis; Kitty Uebel, Swarthmore, Pa.; Marilyn Steele, Jackson, Mich.; Grace M. Harris, Kansas City; "Cindy" Robinson, Alexandria, Va.; Joyce Botkin, Pittsburgh, and Toni Charuhas, Washington.

Margaret A. McClure of Beaver, Pa., is not entered in the "Powder Puff" number but will pit her driving skill against 27 male drivers in the 45-minute seventh race.

Other women slated to participate in the fourth race are Joan Ellis, Indianapolis; Kitty Uebel, Swarthmore, Pa.; Marilyn Steele, Jackson, Mich.; Grace M. Harris, Kansas City; "Cindy" Robinson, Alexandria, Va.; Joyce Botkin, Pittsburgh, and Toni Charuhas, Washington.

Outdoorsmen Play Pittsburgh Plate

Hard-hitting Outdoor Club, going after a repeat as season and playoff champion in the Rocking Chair Softball League, puts its 2-0 record on the diamond this evening against Pittsburgh Plate Glass (1-1) at Penn Avenue Field.

The clash, one of four in the loop, will get underway at 6 o'clock.

The Outdoor swatters have clipped pitching in the circuit for 34 hits in racking up two wins for as many attempts. Manager Cecil Grimes' club trimmed Moose, 9-5, in the idyllic and slammed out 24 bingles in white washing Celanese, 17-0, last Thursday.

The Platers, participating in the league for the first time, made a good debut in downing another newcomer, Ritter's AC, 11-8, but then lost out to Elks, 5-4, last week.

Elks, fighting with Outdoor Club for the lead with a 2-0 record of its own, goes after No. 3 this evening by tangling with Celanese (0-1) at Celanese Field.

VFW, conqueror of Moose, 12-11, in its only outing, plays Knights of Columbus (1-1) at Stitches Field and Moose (0-2) opposes Ritter's (0-2) at Allegheny Field in the other tilts.

Phil Hamilton limited Fort Ashby to three hits and struck out nine as Paw Paw posted its fifth win against four setbacks.

Jay Shaw of Keyser belted a home run and two singles. Bill Cleveland and Ronnie Kuykendall also had three hits to their credit. Wine, Shifty, Colaw and Shaffer accounted for eight of Southern's 11 safeties.

Eddie Linn, Fort Ashby hurler, was nipped for seven blows, three of which were credited to Ray Largent, who boosted his batting average to .378.

Winning Flag 'Serious' For Casey Stengel

Charles Dillon "Casey" Stengel has had more years of experience in baseball than just about anyone else still active on big league ball fields. His first reputation was that of a baseball clown when he played in the majors from 1912 to 1925. But his greatest fame came at an age when most men are thinking about retirement. And now, as manager of the fantastically successful New York Yankees, no one laughs at Casey Stengel. In the following article, the first of five, a famed reporter begins the colorful story of this baseball great.

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Writer

Nobody likes a laugh more than Casey Stengel, but winning pennants for the New York Yankees is a serious business to him. The colorful 66-year-old manager of the world champion Yankees knows the ball club didn't hire him for laughs. In his time—he's now in his 48th season in baseball—Stengel, as a player and manager, provided his share of guffaws in dull ball games when he was with second division teams.

As for Casey Stengel, that time back in 1920 when he gave Brooklyn fans "the bird." Casey came into Ebbets Field with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Playing the outfield, Casey saw a bird flying blindly into the right-field stand and drop to the ground just as the inning ended.

Casey picked up the bird, slipped it into his blouse and raced for the bench. He fed the bird some water in the dugout. When it was his time at bat he slipped the bird under his cap and went to the plate.

As usual, the Dodger fans gave Casey "the bird" as he strode to the plate. With an elaborate bow, Stengel removed his cap and the bird flew into the stands. Case gave the Brooklyn fans "the bird."

Soft Pedals Funny Stories
Stengel soft pedals his funny streaks these days. He is a serious, dedicated baseball man—dedicated to winning pennants.

As Yankee manager, he has won seven pennants in eight starts. Luster is coming to Stengel's fame in the twilight of a remarkable career. He will not muffle his chance for another pennant, if he can help it. For him, times have changed and it doesn't pay to be too funny any more.

He is now at the peak of his fame, riding high as manager of the powerful Yankees whom he is managing for the ninth season. If he wins the 1957 pennant—and he likes his chances—he will tie the record of Joe McCarthy, one of the greatest managers of all time.

Interviewing this gruff, heart-of-gold fellow is an experience to remember. He doesn't court publicity but he gets it on the strength of his personality and baseball savvy. In uniform and slippers, smoking a cigarette, he sat in his office just off the Yankee dressing room as his ball players were dressing for a game.

Playing To Win
"I'm not in baseball at this late date as a hobby," said Stengel. "And I'm not playing to break a record."

"I'm playing to win. I've got a good chance for the pennant again this year."

"Seven other big league clubs are going to try hard to stop me. Everybody wants to beat the Yankees."

Iron Liege Shaping Up As Preakness Favorite

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Calumet Farms' Iron Liege, who had the last laugh after winning the Kentucky Derby, could allow himself another chuckle today as he shaped up as the favorite for Saturday's $100,000-added Preakness.

The smart stepping 3-year-old solidified his position as the horse to beat after these developments yesterday:

1. Gen. Duke, the Calumet big gun which trainer Jimmy Jones rated higher than Iron Liege even after the Derby, returned lame after a mile workout at Pimlico and was declared out of the Preakness.

2. Iron Liege, rebuffed as Calumet's second stringer throughout his 3-year-old career, worked the same distance moments later in a sizzling one minute, 37.4-5—just one-fifth second off the track record.

3. Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler failed to impress jockey Eddie Arcaro in winning the Preakness Prep.

Arcaro Pessimistic
"He's going to have to do better than that Saturday," said Arcaro after piloting Bold Ruler to a length victory over Roslyn Farm's Inseparable.

Wheatley foreman Bart Sweeney sounded more optimistic than Arcaro, however.

"He did it very nicely. I thought," said Sweeney. He added the opinion that blinkers, worn by Bold Ruler for the first time in 17 races, "helped him."

"He didn't try to bear out any part of it," said Sweeney.

Trainer Jimmy Fitzsimmons had prescribed the blinkers as a possible cure for Bold Ruler's tendency to be "rank," as he was in finishing fourth as the 6-to-5 favorite at the Derby.

A third Preakness eligible, Mrs. Janon Fisher Jr.'s Convey, was the only other contender in $6,000 mile and one-sixteenth Prep, and his finish 12 lengths up the track knocked him out as a probable Preakness starter.

Requires Whipping
Arcaro said Bold Ruler responded well to the strategy of letting him run as he pleased from the outset of the race, but still required a steady whipping at the top of the stretch "to get him going."

"He should have done better," said the veteran reinsman.

Bold Ruler suffered an abrasion of the left hind leg in the race but Sweeney said it was not serious enough to affect plans to send him into the Preakness.

By contrast, Gen. Duke's injury had Jones shaking his head. The Duke breezed the mile in 1:40.4-5, just about as the trainer had wanted, but he wound up bobbing his head in pain as he limped on the left forefoot. It was the same foot which was injured before the Derby causing his withdrawal from that race.

"Gen. Duke is definitely out of the Preakness."

County Openers Set This Evening

The County Softball League, operating with four clubs, launches its 19th season today.

Meeting in the first games will be Stringtown invading Corriganville with Wellersburg being host to Burke's. Operating on a twice-a-week schedule, Friday's tilts will have Wellersburg at Stringtown and Burke's being host to Corriganville.

Three of the teams are holdovers from last summer with Wellersburg being the new entry. Potomac Valley and Melody Manor dropped from the league. All games will start at 8:15.

Time Lits Eyebrows
Iron Liege's time for the mile caused raised eyebrows all around old Pimlico. It was faster than the first mile time in all but four of the last 18 Preaknesses and compared with Bold Ruler's 1:37 after a mile in yesterday's prep. The full Preakness distance is a mile and three-sixteenths.

Jockey Ollie Cutshaw had a snug hold on Iron Liege throughout the run and merrily urged him on verbally. As they hit the pole (Continued on Page 17)

Wake Forest Star Leading ACC Hurlers

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Righthander Bill Lovingood of Wake Forest, who got his fourth decision just last week to move into contention, today is the new pitching leader of the Atlantic Coast Conference. He has a perfect mark of 4-0 and a brilliant earned run average of 0.58.

Dick Burton, Duke's lefty star, slipped to second after leading the league last week. Duke's Harleigh Faltzinger and North Carolina's Jim Raugh also challenged. Burton has a 3-1 record, Faltzinger 4-1 and Raugh, the erstwhile leader, had 6-2 through games of last Saturday.

Burton's earned run average of 1.50 was second in the conference, according to ACC Service Bureau figures. Fred Gebhardt of Maryland (5-3) had the third best ERA at 1.60. Raugh, fourth at 1.69, led the conference in strikeouts with 75.

Meanwhile, Lon Bonczek of Duke took over from teammate Dave Sime as the batting leader, .397 to .395. Pete Maynard, also of Duke, held third at .389.

Don Hafer of N. C. State led in home runs with five. Howie Dore of Maryland led in stolen bases with a conference-record total of 28. Bill Barnes of Wake Forest led in triples with four and Andy McDonald of Maryland and Maynard tied for the top in runs batted in with 22 each.

Score Says Vision 'Improved A Lot'

CLEVELAND — Herb Score's injured right eye continues to show improvement, but the eye specialist who has been treating him says it is too early to be "too enthusiastic."

Score, the Cleveland Indians' ace left-handed pitcher who was hit by a line drive in a game with the New York Yankees last Tuesday night, told the nurse who removed the dressing from his eye yesterday that "the vision seems to have improved a lot."

"We can't be too enthusiastic yet," said Dr. Charles I. Thomas, Cleveland eye specialist. "There can be a late detachment of the retina, and remember, we have yet to see the central portion of the retina."

Iron Liege

an eighth of a mile from the finish, Jones held up his hand to signal a slowdown.

The withdrawal of Gen. Duke and Convey's performance in the Prop shaved the probable Preacher field to six or seven.

Besides Iron Liege, Bold Ruler and Tusquet, those already on the grounds included Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill, the fifth finisher in the Derby, Mrs. Jules Schwartz's Nah Hiss and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Promised Land.

Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King is the only other known potential starter.

Hard Wooden Seats Help Start Business

CHICAGO — Fifty years ago, White Sox fan Joseph Salomon got tired of sitting on the hard wooden benches at Comiskey Park. So he designed a metal folding chair and brought it to the park.

Friends saw it and asked for same. Thus was born the leader in the manufacture of metal office, factory and institutional furniture.

Braves Have Pennant Despite Race Finish

MILWAUKEE — The baseball season is still young but Milwaukee already has its pennant. A tiny gibbon was born in the monkey house of the Washington Park zoo here on the opening day of the baseball season. It was named, appropriately, Pennant.

PRIVATE LINE — With the air of a magician pulling a rabbit out of a hat, John Bromley pulls a flounder up and through the trap door in the floor of his fishing tackle shack on Brighton's Palace Pier in Sussex, England. The youngster is impressed by private line.

Monsoons And Race Barrier Play Havoc In Texas League

DALLAS, Tex. — (INS) — Monsoons, a hospitalized president and the effects of a Louisiana race law have gotten Texas League baseball off to its dizziest and most dismal start in years.

The heavy spring rains, ending a seven-year drought in parts of the state, were welcomed outside baseball parks. But around the ball gardens, turnstiles are rusting with inactivity.

Dick Butler, the league president, recently moved his headquarters to a Dallas hospital room, where he is recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

The Louisiana law which forbids Negro players from performing with or against "white" players is tapping the last reservoir of despair among seven of the eight league managers.

Aspirin bottle in hand, they are meeting the crisis with such fortitude that the Shreveport (La.) club, which should profit from the law, is getting the worst of it.

The race law, which drew cries of anguish from club owners, including Shreveport's, before the start of play, forces the seven managers with Negro players to shuffle their lineups for the trip to Louisiana.

Ironically, the jumbled-up visitors are winning ball games in Shreveport while attendance there has dropped 30 per cent from last year.

Dallas, with two Negro regulars left at home, moved into Shreveport recently with a substitute outfielder on first, and a catcher on third. They left town with three straight wins.

Managers at San Antonio, which carries three Negro players, Austin, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Houston, with one each, must perform similar sleight of hand when they visit Shreveport.

More often than not, results are the same. The Shreveport team, failing at the gate, has lost more home games than it has won.

The race law may be indirectly helping Negro players, however. Some, otherwise destined for berths in the Class AA Texas League, skip a baseball grade and go directly to a Triple A or Pacific Coast League club.

What the law has done to Texas League baseball attendance may not be so damaging as the April rains. Whatever the case, the busiest hospital room in the Southwest is shared by Butler and his telephones.

He has more to mend than a broken hip.

Every man is familiar with the way Casey trudges to the mound to relieve a pitcher—his arms flapping, his shoulders stooped, and his warped legs giving a little as he casts his eyes toward the bullpen.

He has a pixie quality about him that is enhanced by his unique conversational style. A born mimic and great story teller, Stengel's conversation often is marked by grammatical constructions that defy description.

Both verbose and master of the apt phrase, Stengel can be suave and genial or stingily sarcastic. Casey has come a long way since he left Kansas City, Mo., in 1910 to take a bush league outfielder's job at $75 a month. On the way up to his present baseball eminence he laughed it up a lot.

But now, with added fame with in his reach, he's taking baseball seriously because he's "out to win."

NEXT—The Stengel "System."

Boris (Bo) Elik Rates Biggest, Oldest Rookie

CLEVELAND — Experts in the American Hockey League believe Boris (Bo) Elik, left wing, of the Calder Cup champion Cleveland Barons, to be the oldest and the biggest rookie ever to play in the league.

Elik, 27 years old. He is 5-foot-11 and weighs 190. When it came time to vote for the rookie of the year, Elik received 26 out of a possible 30 points.

Clem Labine, Jim Wilson Set ER Pace

NEW YORK — Jim Wilson, veteran righthander of the Chicago White Sox, and Clem Labine, Brooklyn's ace reliever, hold the major leagues' earned run lead after four weeks of the 1957 baseball season.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press showed today that Wilson paces the American League with a 1.32 average. He has yielded only five earned runs in 34 innings while winning three games and losing one. Jim has pitched two shutouts, against Kansas City and Boston.

Labine has appeared in 11 games, all in relief. He tops the National League with a 1.35 ERA on six earned runs in 29 frames. Clem has won two games, lost none and saved three others.

Johnny Podges, also of the Dodgers, is runner-up to Labine with a 1.93 earned run mark. The 24-year-old left-hander, who spent last season in the Navy, has yielded eight earned runs in 37 frames and compiled a 2-2 won-lost record. Both of his victories were shutouts.

Tom Sturdivant of the New York Yankees is second to Wilson in the American League. He has permitted five earned runs in 30 innings for 1.50. Johnny Kucks, another Yankee, is third with 1.80. Herb Score of Cleveland had a 2.00 earned run average before he suffered eye and nose injuries when struck by a batted ball.

Movies Suggested To Help Officials

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — (AP) — Jim Williams, basketball coach at Colorado A. and M. College, has his own ideas as to how basketball officials could improve their whistle-blowing.

"At the start of next season," Williams says, "all of the officials who are scheduled to work Skyline Conference games would meet for a clinic. They would be shown films of conference games they worked the previous season, and when an obvious error shows up, it would be pointed out to the official involved."

"Then about once a week during the season, there would be other clinics of the same type held in Denver for the eastern division officials and in Salt Lake City for the western boys."

"We use films to help us in coaching. Why not use 'em in coaching the officials, too?"

Collier Gene Litterer was missing from among the first 25 money winners when he won the 1957 Tournament of Champions event for the third straight time.

Loss Sponsors:

TV Casualty List Higher Than In '56

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (U.S.)—Sponsor magazine reports that 39 of the 114 sponsored television shows on the three major networks this season are going off the air.

On the casualty list are 19 which bowed in during the season now drawing to a close. The 20 others have had at least two seasons. Since Sponsor compiled its lists there have been well-founded rumors of other removals.

Altogether, statistically, it adds up to a casualty rate of about 35 per cent.

The fatalities breakdown into these categories: comedy, 4; action-adventure, 5; quiz programs, 4; variety programs, 2; drama, 2; sports, 1; and one difficult to categorize, "Noah's Ark."

It is futile, however, to try to draw profound conclusions from the types of new programs that have failed in 1956-57. The casualty rate, only a bit higher than last season's, does not indicate any great revolution brewing in TV programming.

For each fallen soldier of the television rating wars a dozen strain to leap forward and take the casualty's place.

The fact that the highest loss was suffered in the category of action-adventure shows does not mean that that type of program is on the wane. To the contrary, there will be more action-adventure shows than ever next season.

Some of the axed shows were pretty bad ones. Some were very good. All of the failures have not been of craftsmanship or skill. But all the failures have been commercial. That is, they have failed to hold their sponsors.

Sponsors base their judgments on two factors: (1) whether the show sells the product advertised; and (2) its audience rating against the opposition.

Among this season's casualties were some which suffered from the basic cause of every casualty everywhere: they were simply in the wrong places at the wrong times.

French composer Paul Paray's Mass commemorating the 500th anniversary of the death of Joan of Arc was given its world premiere in 1931 at the cathedral in the Rouen, not far from the inquisitorial court where she was tried for heresy.

Opponents Like Eager Bidders

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West did not know just how to bid his hand. He wanted to double two diamonds and he also wanted to bid two no-trump. Finally he decided against both bids and just tried three clubs.

The game was duplicate and South was one of those gallant bidders who hate to let the opponents play a part score. South made one more bid. Three diamonds!

This time West knew just what to do. He doubled and after everyone passed West opened the nine of clubs. East overlooked dummy's jack with the queen and returned the deuce of trumps.

West's queen took that trick and a second club lead brought forth dummy's eight and East's ten. Poor South decided to discard his ten of spades.

A second trump play and third club lead left South nothing to do but ruff. He cashed his two high trumps and led a low heart. East grabbed this trick with the nine.

Testing of the homing beacon for the Cumberland Municipal Airport will begin this week, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The equipment will be tested by WTBO engineers, who installed the equipment under an agreement under which the city purchased the tower at Constitution Park formerly used by the radio station.

The homing beacon, being installed as a navigation aid for the airport, is equipped with a 15-watt radio transmitter.

It will undergo a 90-day test authorized by the Federal Communications Commission.

Firm Plans Expansion

SALISBURY (AP) — The Eastern Shore Natural Gas Co. announced today it has filed application with the Federal Power Commission for permission to build a $3,025,000 distribution system.

Fire Tower

brills State Park and Foxville in Frederick county.

Towers not equipped with radios telephone the location of the fire to the radio towers, which in turn spread the alarm.

The Forestry Department operates 90 miles of its own telephone lines, 75 miles of which are in Garrett County.

In addition to forest fires, the towers have spotted homes burning in isolated rural sections and air catastrophies.

Three times each day during the fire season, the department broadcasts from the towers the burning index.

At Three Stations

These readings, which tell the relation of the conditions in the forests to possible ignition are taken at three danger stations, Herrington Manor in Garrett County, Green Ridge State Forest in this county and in Garrett State Park in Frederick County.

One of the methods used to check the wetness or dryness of the litter on the forest floor is by suspending kiln dried sticks on wires above the ground.

These sticks have all moisture removed from them in the kilns. They are weighed three times daily by accurate scales to determine the amount of moisture they absorbed while suspended on the wires. Also taken into consideration is the wind velocity and the date of the last rainfall.

Besides those towers mentioned previously with radios, others are:

Allegany County—Town Hill, Warrior Mountain; Garrett, High Rock Tower on Savage Mountain, Elder Hill Tower on the Voightgheny River west of McHenry; Roth Rock on Backbone Mountain, just south of Route 40; Eagle Rock, on Backbone east of Deer Park.

65 Feet High

Washington County — McClellan's Lookout; Lamb's Knoll on South Mountain; and Frederick County, Western Union Tower on Calocetin Mountain north of Gambrills State Forest; Foxville, between Thurmont and Smithsburg.

Most of the towers are 65 feet high. The highest is Roth Rock Tower which is 90 feet tall. Formerly they were all 15 feet high.

The tower operators are not all men. There is Mrs. Thomas Dixon, wife of the forest guard, who "mans" the Town Hill tower; Mrs. Retic Hennen, Warrior Mountain tower, and Mrs. Carrie Toms, Western Union Tower.

For 14 years until her retirement three years ago, Mrs. Mary Duval walked three miles a day up to the Warrior Mountain tower, and returned over the same rough trail.

Johnson regards her as one of the best towermen he has known in his forestry career.

Allegany county residents are 'batting' slightly more than .370 this year in the Allegany County League for Crippled Children's Easter Seal campaign.

Approximately 23,000 residents of the county received Easter seals in the mail about seven weeks ago, and a check at League headquarters this morning showed $8,643 contributed as a result of the project.

Much more than $6,600 is needed, however, to finance the year-round treatment of crippled children in this section, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received before the books are closed later this month.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will raise the 1957 season's 'batting average' to .500 or better.

Temporary Sewer Change Clears Canal Drainage

Mayor Roy W. Eves said today that a drainage condition in the C&O Canal near the new sewage treatment plant will result in a temporary change in a sewer connection.

Water, he said, has been backing up in the canal and the connection change will take drainage direct to the river.

Dr. J. I. Armstrong of Paw Paw, and Hampshire County Coroner A. L. Russell, were both on the scene.

Witnesses said the water was from six to eight feet deep at the point of the drownings, but that the water was not swift and had very little undercurrent.

Mongold, a native of Petersburg, W. Va., was employed as a brakeman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He was a son of Seymour and Rose (Nelson) Mongold.

The bodies are at the George Funeral Home.

Rain Brings Dry Area Relief

By The Associated Press

The first general rainfall in about a month dumped on two inches of precipitation on much of the dry Maryland countryside early today, and the Weather Bureau said more showers are on the way.

Only Western Maryland and the lower Southern Maryland peninsula were skipped by the rain.

The heaviest fall was reported at Benson, in Harford County north of Baltimore, where 2.18 inches were recorded at the State Police barracks.

Boston had 1.35 inches but Salisbury, only about 40 miles away, had only .16 inches.

The central portion of the state got most of the rain. Randallstown reported 1.04 inches; Towson had close to half an inch, and Conowingo reported .29.

No rain fell in Cumberland or Waldorf while Rockville had .13 inches and Frederick reported only .05.

Scattered showers or thunderstorms are forecast for Maryland and Delaware today, tonight and Wednesday.

These sticks have all moisture removed from them in the kilns. They are weighed three times daily by accurate scales to determine the amount of moisture they absorbed while suspended on the wires. Also taken into consideration is the wind velocity and the date of the last rainfall.

Besides those towers mentioned previously with radios, others are:

Allegany County—Town Hill, Warrior Mountain; Garrett, High Rock Tower on Savage Mountain, Elder Hill Tower on the Voightgheny River west of McHenry; Roth Rock on Backbone Mountain, just south of Route 40; Eagle Rock, on Backbone east of Deer Park.

65 Feet High

Washington County — McClellan's Lookout; Lamb's Knoll on South Mountain; and Frederick County, Western Union Tower on Calocetin Mountain north of Gambrills State Forest; Foxville, between Thurmont and Smithsburg.

Most of the towers are 65 feet high. The highest is Roth Rock Tower which is 90 feet tall. Formerly they were all 15 feet high.

The tower operators are not all men. There is Mrs. Thomas Dixon, wife of the forest guard, who "mans" the Town Hill tower; Mrs. Retic Hennen, Warrior Mountain tower, and Mrs. Carrie Toms, Western Union Tower.

For 14 years until her retirement three years ago, Mrs. Mary Duval walked three miles a day up to the Warrior Mountain tower, and returned over the same rough trail.

Johnson regards her as one of the best towermen he has known in his forestry career.

Prisoner Here For Testimony In Court Case

An Allegany County man who has been a prisoner at the state penitentiary was brought here today to testify in a law suit of a Frostburg woman against a Cumberland used car dealer and the First National Bank of Frostburg.

The prisoner is also the husband of the Frostburg woman in the case. He is Charles Dewey Walters, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for forging the title to a car owned by his wife.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams Walters brought the suit against William Gulick, trading as Gulick Auto Exchange and the Frostburg bank. She testified today that she had a safe deposit box in the bank under the name of her first husband, Williams, and that after she remarried following his death the name was changed to Walters. She said that she had not authorized anyone to have access to the safe deposit box.

Walters allegedly took the title to her car, forged it and then sold the machine to the Gulick firm. She is represented by Edward J. Ryan while John M. Robb represents Gulick and W. Earle Cobeey the bank.
